THE DIXON INDICTMENT.

TAMMANY'S DISGRACEFUL HASTE.

A MEMBER OF THE ORGANIZATION THE GRAND JURY FOREMAN WHO WOULD NOT LET

THE MINISTER SPEAK. The unseemly haste with which the case of the Rev. Thomas Dixon, fr., who was charged with libel by Joseph Koch, the Excise Commissioner, was rushed through the Grand Jury and an indictment found against the minister within twenty four hours after the complaint reached the District-Attorney's office, has created much surprise among the masses of lawabiding people who have not been accustomed to witnessing such rapid work in "meting out justice" in New York. The speciacle of the machinery of the courts being made to operate with such unprecedented celerity to vindicate the character of a man like Koch, while the cases against murderers, thieves and lawbrenkers of all kinds are allowed to await pleasure of the criminals, is certainly enough to arouse the indignation of the community and to lead to the inquiry why a conscientious paster should be so malignantly prosecuted for criticism of this offensive Tannmany politician, while the most guilty and barefaced violators of the statutes are every day allowed to go scot free. The very Grand Jury which indicted the Rev. Mr. Dixon had before it 1,308 rumsellers charged with breaking the excise laws by selling liquor on sundays after the prescribed hours, to the babitually intemperate and to children. Of these 1,308 cases only 348 of the lawbreakers were indicted, while 960 of them were discharged. Some of these Grand Jurors were themselves liquor dealers. One of them, James Trainor, keeps the place known as "Trainor's," at Broadway and Sixth-ave., where liquor has been frequently sold after 1 a. m. and on days, in violation of law. Several cases of disorder and assault have occurred in Trainer's barroom.

Under the Consolidation Act grand invers are selected by a board composed of the Mayor, the presiding Judge of the Supreme Court in the 1st Judicial District, the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of the City of New-York, the first Judge of the Court of Common Plens, the Recorder and the City Judge of the City and County of New-York. The choice is made from lists submitted to the Board by the Commissioner of Jurors. Four members of the floard shall con-stitute a quorum. It must neet at the office of the Commissioner of Jurors and organize on the first Monday in September of each year, and within afteen days thereafter it must select from the Comsioner of Juror's list not less than 600 nor mo than 1,000 persons qualified to serve as grand jurors orts of Oper and Terminer and General Bessions for the year and until the next annual list is red. There sent at the meting of the board to select grand jurors on September 18, 1891, Recorder Frederick Smyth acting as chairman; Judge James Flizgerald, of the Court of General Sessions; Chief Judge J. F. Daly, of the Court of Common Pleas, and Judge Rufus B. Cowing, City Judge, and they prepared a list of 853 persons to act as grand jurchs for the city and county of New-York for the year beginning October 1, 1891. This list was filed with the County Clerk on September 19, 1891, all the judges named signing the usual certificate. The names were placed in the box provided for the purpose by the

The Grand Jury which indicted the Rev. Mr. Dixon was drawn from this box on May 20, 1592. There were present, as the law requires, at the drawing Judge Randolph B. Arraci, the Angel of Death.

Hovers nearer us, sometimes, than we are awars. It is eafer for when we are unwell to suspect his propinquity than to ignore the possibility of his nearness. Caution is a trait in which the majority of mankind are constitutionally lacking. The preneness to disregard a "slight cold" is particularly striking. This miner allment is, however, a predecessor of is grippe, a paledy which cold" is particularly striking. This minor aliment is, however, a profeedsoor of is grippe, a melady which when developed is of the most fatal character, as mortuary statistics attest. After a chill, or when the premenitory symptoms of inducaze—such as sneeding and shivering, succeeded by foverishness and dryness of the skin—are perceptible, immediate recourse should be had to Hoptotter's Stomach Bitters, a genial accelerator of the blood's circulation, which diffuses an agreeable, healthful warmth through the aystem inductive of perspiration, by means of which the complaint is expelled through the pores and its further tendency counteracted. Wonderfully efficacious, too, is the Hitters for malaria, constigution, liver complaint, rheumatism and kidney trouble. A wineglassful before retirion induces health-yielding sleep.

Brandreth's Pitts will worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and a regular course of them, say one or two every night for a week or ten days, will act as a preventive of either complaint.

This is a very different sort of Grand Jury from the one which made the famous presentment against the Tammany Police Department, and the foreman is a Tammany man, a very different sort of man from the foreman of the Grand Jury which so stirred up the foreman of the Grand Jury which so stirred up the Police Department.

After two weeks' consideration on the part of Police Justice Thomas F. Grady, tetere whom Koch had caused Mr. Dixon to be brought, the Tammany Justice decided to hold the accused man for libel. It was on Thursday last that Grandy came to this conclusion and he at once certified his finding to the Distret-Attorney's office. The next morning, Friday, the efficials thereties to their Tammany obligations, promptly sent the complaint before the Grand Jury along with twenty of lureeny, gasault, excise violation and kindred crimes. If the grand jurors had been bound to obey the commands of the Tammany masters of this city, and stood in dread of the riim element which stands tehind Koch and compelied his reappointment, that body could not have acted more swiftly. Without de laving an hour after the case came before them, they decided to indict the minister. Ferhaps nothing else could be expected even in the halls of justice in this Tammany-rioden city.

The foreman of the Grand Jury, Francis Higgins, was particularly offensive to the minister, and interrupted him as soon as he had well begun on a defence of his words. Higgins is a Tammany politician: he holds no municipal office, but he is a member of the Tammany Hall General Committee. He also belongs to the Manhattan Club, where he is a rather constant visitor, and where he is thrown in more or less intimate relations with the big men in Tammany Hall. Higgins is receiver on the North River Bank, and owes his appointment to Judge Moran J. O'Brien. The foreman of the Grand Jury was formerly in the rial estate business, but is retired now. His office and that of Judge O'Brien used to adjoin each offer. O'C course, the receivership of the bank is a pretty plam; one that would naturally increase a man's devotion to the organization which controls the distribution of such favors. Higgins certainly displayed a refiarkable zeal in Indicting the minister who spoke the truth, and in terms far more moderate t ao weeks' consideration on the part of Police

In this case the Board of Excise denied the application on the assertion of coursel for the churches that the place was within 200 feet of one of them, but upon he statement of Fitzsimons that such was not the act, reopened the case. Mr. Gutens demurred on the ground that Pitzsimons should secure a writ legally for view the action of the Board. The Board has now declined to reopen the case. Fitzstmons has accordingly taken a writ of certiorari and has also applied or a mandamus compelling the Board to grant him the Court of Common Pleas, who will shortly render a decision. The settlement of this case interests churches, schools and liquor-shop-keepers, as it will define what is legally construed to be the principal entrance to such places, a point which no previous case has touched upon.

THE COURTS.

THE COURTS COULD NOT GET HIM A DIPLOMA Judge McAdam in the Superior Court yesterday denied the application of Walter Jones for a man damus to compel the New-York Homocopathic Medical College and Hospital to issue a diploma to him after he had attended the college for a full term. He became a student at the cotlege in October, 1887, and entered the class of '00. He remained until March, 1850, and then remained away until October, 1800 when he joined the class of '91. In March, 1891, just before the examination, he was taken ill with pneumonia and did not attend the examination. sent a physician's certificate to the college from his home at Mount Vernon, and Dr. Timothy F. Allen, of the college faculty, so Jones declares, told Jones's faither that his son should have an examination when he recovered from his illness. Jones got well and the college, but was told that he had not passed his juntor and middle examinations and was never entitled to enter the sentor class.

Jones declares that he never received any notice that he had not passed his junter and middle examinations, and as a matter of fact his name was pub lished with the others in the senior class among list of those graduated in the newspapers and else where. The authorities refused to give him a diploma however, and he brought this suit for a mandamus Judge McAdam says in denying the motion that it is impossible for the court to examine him as to his qualifications as a physician, and that the decision of

IS THIS SOUTH AMERICAN INSANE! Justice Andrews in the Supreme Court Chamber vesterday appointed John H. Judge, a lawyer, and Dr Matthew Chalmers as a commission to pass upon the mental condition of Jose Vicente Mongolon, a merchant of Baranquilla, United States of Columbia. The application for the commission was made by William that Mongolon started from his home on the steamer two weeks later. He did not pay his passage on th cept those which he wore. Mengolon had an account with W. R. Grace & Co. and had a credit on the book. of the company amounting to $5,443. The firm re-fused to pay him anything on account because of his peculiar actions. A host of alleged creditors also ap-peared who had curious cluims against Mongolon. One was for $10,000 for the use of a cont-of-arms, claimants appeared.

Mr. Grace wrote to the home of Mongolon and learned that he had been declared insane by the courts of Carlagena on January 30 last. He had been a wealthy merchant at one time, but was not worth more than $30,000 or $40,000 all told now. Upon learning these facts Mr. Grace applied for the commission after dis-covering that Mongolon did not have a relative or a friend in this country.

DENIES THAT THERE WERE RIOTS IN BRAZIL. Arthur T. Macedos, the Brazilian Consul in this city, said yesterday that there were no disturbances in Brazil as far as he knew and that his brother had written to him, asking about the accounts given in New York newspapers to the effect that there had been serious riots there. He averred his brother had reported that everything was quiet. THE MYSTERY DEEPENS,

THE VEGA WAS NOT IN COLLISION AT SEA.

PROBABILITY THAT THE WRECKED SHIP WAS THE FREDERICK B. TAYLOR-A STEAMSHIP MUST HAVE DONE THE DAMAGE.

Not in a long time has a story from the ocean perplexed and balled mariners and shipping men so much, or aroused so much apprehension, as the reports made last week by the two vessels that sighted the shattered fragments of some great sailing ship which showed evidences that a disastrous collision had oc-eurred. It is not only the fate of the crew of the wrecked ship that has awakened universal sympathy, but it is also the supposition, founded on the appearance of the wreck, that the evssel that crashed into the ship was a steamship, which may have been so seriously lamaged herself that she may now be at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean. On Sunday it was feared that the Portuguese steamship Vega, with over 500 people on board, might be the ill-starred vessel that had cut the sailing ship in two. Her safe arrival in port yesterday morning at 2 o'clock happily dispelled all anxiety on her account, but it leaves the ocean mystery deeper than before.

No one here can say what it was that happened, ex cept that somewhere between 250 and 300 miles of Sandy Hook, some time before June 22, a large sailing ship with all sail set was struck suddenly by another swift ship, with a prow stout and sharp enough to cut elean through her aft of the mizzen chains. has become of the crew of the wrecked vessel; what has become of the ship which struck her, and when and how the accident occurred, are questions to which the answer is hidden in the silence of the deep. roken remnants of what was a handsome ship, thrown about idly on the ocean swell far out at sea, may hold an explanation of part of the mystery, but the captains of neither the tank steamship Ocean, which sighted the upturned stern of the wreck on June 23, nor the steamship Stewart Prince, which passed the forward half of the ship with all sall set, on June 22, could see a name on her. Their description of the fragments, as printed in yes terday's Tribune, however, makes it seem almost cer ain that the wrecked craft was the full-rigged ship Frederick B. Taylor, of Yarmonth, N. S., manned by a crew of twenty-two, under the command of Captain E. F. Hurlbert. The friends of the captain and crew of the Frederick D. Taylor have practically given her vessel, except a large transatlantic passenger ship, would have had strength or speed enough to cut her vay so sharply through a ship as large and heavily milt as the wreckage showed the broken vessel to have could naturally have been in the locality where have been reported from England as having ar ived safely. No wes bound liners are overdue at this port, but there are many speedy and powerful vessels slying across the ocean from other ports. It may be nany days before the truth is known, if indeed the lips of all who could tell of the disaster are not closed arever. None but the most powerful and massive of els could have escaped serious injury herself, and f it was an ordinary merchant steamship which did the lamage, she, too, may be at the bottom of the sea. A large and swift ship, on the contrary, may have es-aped with no great damage. Instances of this kind are not rare, one of the most notable being the col-tision between the Curiard Line steamship Umbria and he freight steamer Iberla. They met in a fog, 160 niles from shore, on November 10, 1888, and the ria, under great headway, struck the Iberia aft t had been done with a great knife. The Umbria was njured so slightly that though she returned to port she vas able to continue her voyage on the next day. Many years ago the steamship Adriatic, while steamng up the Irish Sea from Liverpool at night, out the hip Harvest Queen in two and sent her to the bottom istantly. Yet the passengers on the Adriatic did not wen know that there had been a collision, and only he men on deck were aware of it.

When the steamship Vega was sighted, yesterday norning before davlight, a great load was lifted rom the minds of the owners and those who had friends on board. When the news that the Vega was supposed to have been in collision was circulated around o the Barre Office and made anxious inquiries about to the Barge Office and made anxious inquiries about the vessel. Though the ship arrived off the Bar at 2 a.m., It was nearly p o'clock in the morning perfore the waiting people began to understand that the was safe, and they talked and gesticulated excitedly. Wash the news that she had arrived safely was comprehended by them they shouled, danced and made a crazy rush for the ferryboat Brinckerhoff for Ellis Island. Afterward, when the Vega went to her pier at Allantie Docks, Brooklyn, a highly excited and noistly demonstrative army of gayly dressed Italians went there and swarmed over the pier. the pier.
The Vega was delayed at the Azores, which ac counted for her being overdue. She lu twenty cabin and 475 steerage passenge

A WILL CONTEST COMPROMISED.

PARLOR CAR PASSENGERS SHAKEN UP.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 27.-The rear truck of the Wagner vestibule car Elierslie, on the Delaware and Hudson Montreal express, Conductor Herrick in charge, arriving here at 3:25 this afternoon, jumped a frog at the upper end of the passenger yard, while the for-ward trucks kept the track. This swung the car around so that it struck a yard locomotive with suffi-cient force to crush in the side of the car. Though the engineer had reversed his locomotive as soon as a collision was seen to be inevitable, the concussion threw the Wagner car off the track, as well as the rear track of the passenger car in front, tearing up three car lengths of track. About a dozen passengers were in the car. All were badly frightened but unhuri, except a young man who sat in the chair opposite a broken window, who was slightly cut in the head by flying wreckers. Notiner car was upset.

BRITISH INTEREST IN THE FAIR.

THE ROYAL COMMISSION APPOINTS AN EXECU-TIVE COMMITTEE-NEW SOUTH WALES TO EXHIBIT.

London, June 27.-The British Royal Commission for the World's Fair has appointed an Executive Commit-tee, and thereby has greatly strengthened its organiza-tion and rendered the dispatch of business more easy and satisfactory. The committee is formed of the ex-Isting Finance Committee and four other members the Commission. The Finance Committee is composed of the Attorney General, chairman; Sir Frederick Bram-well, Lord Aifred Churchill, N. F. Cobb, F. Biddulph Martin, George Mathey and Sir Owen Roberts. To these men have been added Sir Frederick Abel, Sir Philip Cunliffe Owen, James Dredge and Sir Douglas Gatton Meetings of the Executive Committee are held weekly, when all business connected with this section is brought before it for discussion, and to enable it to advise the upon the executive policy the committee considers most desirable.

Mr. McCormick has won a great victory at Bradford, where the opposition to the Fair has been strongest. John A. Tibbits, United States Consul at Bradford, has written heretofore that it would be needless to try to call a meeting there in the interests of the Exposition, and that Mr. McCormick might ex-pect rather a cold reception should be visit that place. Mr. McCormick has presented, through letters to Mr. Tibbits, many reasons why the Brudford manufacturers should cease their opposition and send samples of their manufactures to Chicago. These letters have been generally published in the Yorkshire papers, which fact, with the zealous co-operation of Mr. Tibblis, has doubtless had much to do with the change of front that has taken place. The Chamber of Commerce have now asked whether Mr. McCormick will not come to Bradford for the purpose of delivering an address to a full meeting, which he has agreed to do at an early date. Mr. McCormick said to-day: "I think is is safe to say that other manufacturing centres which have hitherto boycotted the Exposition will likewise come into line in due course. The question now will be whether they can get as much space as they Sydney, N. S. W., June 27 .- A farewell dinner was given to-day to Mr. Renwick, the New South Commissioner to the Chicago Columbian Exhibition, who is about to leave this city. Mr. Barton, the Attorney-tieneral, who is Acture Prime Minister, made an address, in which he said that, come what might, New South Wales would be adequately represented at Chicago.

TO DEDICATE THE PAIR ON OCTOBER 21. Negotiations between the Columbian Committee of One Hundred of this city and the managers of the ment by which the dedicatory ceremonies connected with the World's Fair at Chicago shall not begin until October 21, 1892, thus giving New-York a clear field for 9 to October 14, inclusive. The sub-committees representing the two Columbian celebrations effected the ettlement in Chicago, and it was vesterday announced by Commissioner Wahle, secretary of the New-York Committee of One Hundred. The arrangement, however, must have the sauction of Congress, and ex-Congressman Perry Belmont was authorized to lay

The New-York State World's Fair Commissioners are anxious to secure a model of Robert Fulton's steamboat, the Clermont, so as to reproduce it for exhibition at the Fair. So far, they have been unable to find any model. The Maritime Exchange has undertaken to assist in the enterprise, but is unable to find anything beyond pictures and descriptions of the boat. The search has not yet been given up, but it is probable that if the Clermont is reproduced it will have to be from the descriptions.

ACTIVITY OF THE NEW-YORK MANAGERS. Albany, June 27 .- The executive committee of the state Women's Board of Managers of the World's Fair meet here to-morrow afternoon. On Wednesday the vomen mahagers will visit Chicago to confer with Mrs. Potter Paimer and become acquainted with the plan and scope of women's work in relation to the Fair. A meeting of the State General Board of Managers will be held on Thursday in President Depew's office in New York City, when arrangements will be made with a committee of artists for the State art exhibit.

WILL TRY TO LOWER A WORLD'S RECORD Hartford, June 27 (Special) .- One of the most intercoting incidents of the big tournament of the Columbia and Colt Cycling Clubs, to be held at Charter Cak lark on July 4 and 5, will be the attempt of Hoyland smith to beat the world's record of twenty-four miles in one hour, made by Ede on June 9, at the Herne Hill track in England. Mr. Smith will start on his hour's ride at 5 p. m. on July 5, and hundreds of wheelmen are awaiting the result of this effort with eager interest. To beat this record Mr. Smith will be obliged to ride twenty-four miles at a better rate than 2 minutes 30 1-2 seconds per mile. He is confident of success. His pacemakers will be from among the best representatives of American talent, including W. W. Windle, George F. Taylor, H. C. Tyler, W. W. Taxis, Frederick Graves, H. B. Arnold and Herman and seeley, of Hartford, on a tandem. Some idea of what Mr. Smith will be obliged to do can be gained by study of the following table, showing the comparative

Excursion tickets, good from July 2 to July 5, are sold at reduced rates, the hotel also making a special low rate for this occasion. On the evening of July 2 the managers of the hotel will give a grand opening ball, the muste being supplied by Rerr Meyer's orchestra, which will continue to supply the muste at the hotel during the season.

CARLSKUHE MAY THY FOR THE ENGLISH DERBY. Chicago, June 27.-It is said that there is a probability that Carlsruhe, a full brother of Carlsbad, winner of the American Derby, will be taken to England to compete with English thoroughbred horses for the Derby next June over the Epsom course. John Porter, the English trainer, will $\psi$ taken (Carlsruhe for the race with the Duke of Wes'minster's lot. years ago, Mr. Swigert was in England and had an idea that Michael, now four years old, was good enough to land the English Derby. At that time Carlsbad was a yearling. He gave up the idea of sending Michael over, but at the time John Porter promised to train anything he might send from America, and Carlsruhe will be sent to him.
